COLLAPSE

That is freaky and cool, both at once.

Glad I'm not in it.

Hey, I come from Wisconsin. It is a land of frequent ice, snow, cold, and Germans...schadenfreude is our thing, come winter.

phhbt ^.^

Wow. Just wow.

Stay safe and warm out there!

Snow is good insulation, at least.

Except for that whole 'being wet' thing.

Cool, but will no one save the teddy?

February 11 2010, 13:03:11 UTC COLLAPSE

Will no one think of the BEARS?

The poor trees!

 trollcatz

February 11 2010, 13:07:41 UTC COLLAPSE

POOR ME!

 txanne

February 11 2010, 13:19:41 UTC COLLAPSE

Oh. You do have to shovel it, don't you? But you can go inside and get warm, and the poor trees are stuck out there!

...I'll send you some of my nice 40-degree weather, shall I?

Wow! That is a fuckton of snow! (A metric fuckton, which is slightly bigger than an English fuckton.)

What keeps the path like bits in the middle from disappearing? Are they over something warm?

 trollcatz

February 11 2010, 13:04:34 UTC COLLAPSE

One of my coworkers referred to it as a "metric butt-ton." I suspect that's even bigger.

I think those path-like bits are a wall.

That is so. cool. I've lived in the Midwest most of my life and I've only ever seen snow like that once. It was the Halloween Blizzard, when we got 30 inches. But that... wow. So neat to see it time-lapse like that.

I'm buying a snorkel and a periscope.

It's weather like that that makes Science! rediscover that kids under the age of 10 are part ice-mole. Whenever the snow-banks on the side of the street got big enough, it was guaranteed that us kids would attempt to tunnel through it somehow. If it keeps up like that, parents join in.

Very happily, the Internet means cabin fever is much less common than it once was. I love progress.

Your snow lapse photography is awesome.

It looks somewhat like the view out my back window.

Stay warm, be safe.

Not mine--just found it on youtube. The lazywebs win again!

That's a very zen icon you have there.

I know it's zen because it makes my head hurt, and so does  ace_cub_reportr.

Zen? Nah, that's not zen. This is zen:

"If you have some ice-cream, then I will give it to you.

if you have no ice-cream, then I will take it from you.

This, is an ice-cream koan."

(Also, I'm flattered to be considered in such august company) =)

From the comments I'm guessing this was a video of the snow in DC? I'll watch it when I get home.

I wish my job didn't block YouTube...

That's really neat!

I can't remember if I ever said this, but I was directed to your LJ by some friends of mine because they said that you are cool and that we might get along pretty well. :)

I know I shouldn't say this, but I envy you. Here, it is just enough to make the daily snowsweeping annoying, but not enough to have fun (i.e. snowmen, skiing and the like)...

Thank you
